Dear Friend,

The Tennessee Organic Growers' Association invites you to join us as a sponsor of the 5th Annual Conference, to be held March 14th, 2009 on the campus of Tennessee State University.

Last year's conference attracted a range of attendees, from farmers to chefs to clergy to people who just love healthy, organic Tennessee-grown foods. Once again, we expect well over 200 attendees to join us for a day long conference designed to build a community of organic growers who are producing food for their own families and others. Our workshop program offers attendees practical guidance in sustainable and organic practices of produce an protein production, as well as inspiring stories from successful farms that are making a living and growing.

As a sponsor or exhibitor, you will receive one conference registration and dedicated time to interact with conference attendees in the exhibition hall. Sponsors enjoy other benefits as well, depending on their level of support. Benefits include space in our conference program, acknowledgement in our publicity materials, and distribution of your brochure in our conference packet. Please review the enclosed form to find the sponsorship level that best meets your needs.

Your sponsorship of the Tennessee Organic Growers' Association 5th Annual Conference will help us fulfill our mission of educating growers, strengthening communities, and protecting Tennessee's natural environment. Please return the enclosed sponsorship form by February 14th to ensure placement in our publicity materials.

If you have any questions, please feel free to visit our website at www.tnorganics.org or by contacting me at 615-395-4566.

Sincerely,
Tennessee Organic Growers Association

Cynthia Delvin
President
